Vital to operation

Hum of printing presses identify Upland's Astara

By DON GREEN Staff Writer

Astara is one religious organization where the hum of printing presses may be a more familiar sound than hymns from a church choir or messages from a Sunday sermon.

Robert Chaney - who founded Astara 27 years ago with his wife, Earlyne — said the four printing presses on the Astara campus are a vital part of operations for the religious and educational organization.

Karinne Pevarnik, an instructor and administrator for Astara, explained that the organization is more a publishing operation than a church, although Astara holds regular services.

Astara, "Place of Light," came to Upland two years ago after 25 years in Los Angeles and took over Upland College from the Salvation Army. Today, the college maintenance and shop building serves as Astara's publishing center, Chaney said.

He said Astara has some 25,000 members scattered in the United States and around the world.

Since Astara's only home is the former college campus on south side of Arrow Highway at San Antonio Avenue, the organization depends heavily on publishing its publications and distribution by mail to stay in touch with followers.

With an operation that can churn out up to 3,000 copies an hour, Astara prints its regular publication "The Voice of Astara," 15 booklets and 130 lessons. Paperback and hard-cover books by Chaney, his wife and others are printed elsewhere but distributed through

Chaney said the lessons concentrate on basic themes of Astara: self-development, self-help, metaphysics and mystical

"Light and Life Cookbook" extols the virtues of natural foods, naturally prepared. Some, but not all, Astarians use the book to help become vegetarians, Chaney said.

"Remembering — Autobiography of a Mystic" recounts the experiences of Mrs. Chaney's life. Chaney said his wife, a former actress, is well-known for her presentation on what happens after

He said the death of a close friend in an airplane crash accounted for her first interest in the subject, which he described as more practical than morbid.

Chaney himself is the author of several books, including "Awaken Your Higher Potential.

He said the printed word has played an important role in Astara almost since its beginning in 1951 in Los Angeles. He taught and Mrs. Chaney rewrote his presentations for publication, Chaney noted.

The bookstore on the Astara campus carries the Chaneys' work, as well as other books related to religion, metaphysics, philosophy and yoga, Astara albums and cassettes and posters printed at the campus shop.

Some of the cassettes date back to Chaney's radio show originating in Los Angeles and interviews with well-known personalities, such as Gloria Swanson.

Chaney said Astara turns no profit on its publications, but relies on donations and tuition for the many workshops. seminars and classes held at the Upland site.

The printing operation is less expensive than hiring the work to be done and easier to update with changes at Astara, he said.

Chaney, who sold advertising before starting Astara, said, "I was always interested in religious ideas and anything to do with the mind." He described Astara as basically a Christian organization, but one "interested in the mystical aspects

Self-improvement and mystical philosophy might seem to be widely divergent themes for the

"To some they might be separated, but from our point of view they belong together," Chaney

He explained that Astara does not insist that its members follow any particular regimen of thought and half its followers belong to other churches and synagogues

The 50 members of the Astara staff are mostly followers of the organization's teachings, but Chaney noted the work force includes non-followers as well.

Astara celebrated its 27th anniversary Oct. 15 and is completing its second year in Upland. Chaney said there is still confusion in the community about Without bitterness, he noted that if the head of another organization had presided over renovating Upland College that leader would be on call to speak before civic groups.

Chaney, who has not been invited to address local groups, said Astara is more than halfway toward full renovation of the campus that had

Uplander helps Goodwilldonors

On a hot September afternoon or a rainy April morning, he may only have one customer, yet another day the cars may be lined up three and

Charles (Chuck) Hovey of Upland never knows from one day to the next how many people he will see. what types of items they will bring or the weather conditions he will have to endure

Hovey, 76, is an attendant for the Goodwill Industries of Southern California Attended Collection Center (ACC) at the Von's market, Foothill Boulevard and Wheeler

Avenue, in La Verne. Goodwill began using ACCs in 1974 as an added service to their donors. The attendants help unload items, issue a tax receipt, answer any questions and explain to a donor why a certain article may not be accepted by Goodwill Hovey says working the trailer gives him something to do.

'I'm helping others and keeping myself busy at the same time. All the fellows here want to be doing something. In addition to Hovey, attendants are Merle Montgomery, 72, of La Verne; Patrick O'Connor, 80, of Upland; Walter May, 69, of San Dimas and Steve Tracey, 66, of Upland. All are part-time, some work mornings one week, afternoons the next and have the next week off. One attendant works only on Saturday called when needed. Retirees and students make up the majority of the ACC attendants

Hovey began working for Goodwill Industries of Southern California in 1961 as a dispatcher for the main plant in Los Angeles. He continued at that until 1963. After that he wasn't working and got tired of sitting around, so he came back to Goodwill. That was in 1967. At that time he was a booth placement representative, he has been with the La Verne center since it opened in May of 1975.

'This is a retirement job, if no one comes I sit and read, when someone comes I take the donation and we chew the fat. People seem to understand when I explain why we can't take something.

Goodwill presently operates 14 ACCs and six Mini-ACCs. The regular ACC is a truck trailer stationed at a permanent location. When full it is traded with an empty trailer. The Mini-ACC is a converted Goodwill truck that is driven to a location and left during business

"Mostly we get clothes and shoes. but I've seen some very fine color TVs and furniture here. I've also seen some junk, usually left here. I find it when I come in the morning.'

Donors are requested to make use of the ACC during regular business hours. Nothing should be left against or around the trailer.

Negotiators frustrated by Proposition 13

BY DON GREEN Staff Writer

For Bill Stromberg and other negotiators for public employee groups, Proposition 13 and the relief measures that followed this summer have been a sometimes frustrating change of rules in the middle of the game.

Stromberg is a staff representative for Local 690 of the Service Employees International Union AFL-CIO. He represents some 60 fire personnel and 130 employees in the miscellaneous unit at the bargaining table with the Legislation (SB 154) passing along state surplus funds to replace local revenue loss from property tax under Proposition 13 prohibits salary increases in excess of state employee salary increases as one condition for receiving the money.

No state employee salary increases were included in this year's budget. Stromberg said, "There's no doubt about it. It has impeded the process to a certain degree. We cannot negotiate for cost-of-living increases, which are vital to the negotiation process.

In addition to Upland, Stromberg represents public employees at the bargaining table in some 10 other cities, most of them in the East San Gabriel Valley. He said Local 690 has taken two-part strategy toward negotiations since Proposition 13. Referring to the state relief measure, he said, "Now, we don't accept it.

'We have taken a local-wide policy of objecting to SB 154 restrictions in every case where we've entered into a negotiation situation.

He noted employee groups are challenging the legality of SB 154 in the courts.

Otherwise, Stromberg said, Local 690 has concentrated its efforts on increasing benefits.

'If the climate is right, which it has been is some jurisdictions, we have been successful in negotiating alternatives to cost-of-living increases.

He said the most popular option has been increased contributions to employee retirement funds. Additional city funds for health insurance is another alternative, he In Upland, the major bargaining item has been $15 a month per employee from the city toward a dental plan. The city has reach a memorandum of understanding with the Upland Police Officers Association, which negotiates directly with City Manager Lee Travers.

Discussions between firefighters and other employees with the city were hung up on whether the contributions should start Nov. 1 or be retroactive to the beginning of

Stromberg and Mike Matlock, Upland's assistant city manager for public services, said Friday the city and Local 690 have now reached agreement toward the Nov. 1 starting date and the memorandums of understanding will be considered by the council Nov. 6

Finance Director Anthony Andrade estimated Upland's contribution to all three employee groups toward a dental plan would be $30,000 over eight months from November through June 1979, or $45,000 for a full

The memorandums of understanding are the core of negotiations of with area cities, although Upland has not reached one in two years.

Stromberg said a difference of opinion exists on the 'written value of the agreement.'

How binding the agreements are, he said, is a 'nebulous subject.'

However, he added that the memorandums of understanding are "essential to us." Jurisdictions seldom abrogate the agreements, because past cases have upheld their enforceability.

Candidates forum

Nine Chaffey High board hopefuls state views

By MICHAEL DAVIS Staff Writer

West End housewives, former students and municipal employees are among the candidates seeking a seat on the Chaffey Joint Union High School District board.

Though 13 candidates applied for the seat vacated by the resignation of H.J. Carnine, only nine arrived for the public interview sessions held Monday afternoon.

The Chaffey district board did not appoint anyone to the post but instead decided to make their selection following a special meeting and executive session beginning at 6:30 p.m. Thursday.

Public comments concerning the candidates will be welcomed at the meeting, said board president Adrian Chalfant.

The board asked each candidate to explain his thoughts on priority concerns of the district, to summarize personal qualifications, to state where further budget cuts could be made and give an opinion on collective bargaining and binding arbitration of disputes.

Curtiss D. Bonneville, an attorney from Rancho Cucamonga, said his educational background in economics and law plus his past volunteer activies for the district qualified him for the seat. He said additional budget cuts might be made in athletics and continuation schools but he was unsure what role binding arbitration should play in the Chaffey district

Bonneville said he was also unsure whether temporary facilities or a permanent school would best relieve overcrowding in Alta Loma High School. He said he was opposed to unification of local schools because there was no proof it provided a better edcuation to students

James R. Housel, Ontario Public Library director, said he belives everyone should donate at least 10 hours a week to social activities. He said he could apply experience from serving on the board of the Inland Library System if appointed to the Chaffey board.

Housel said he is generally against unification and is "fiscally conservative." He felt realignment of school attendance boundaries was the best method to end overcrowding in Alta Loma and that maximum class sizes in all schools should be 20 pupils. He supported binding arbitration.

Thomas Johnson Jr., a county employee who investigates reported cases of child abuse, said he would like to help oversee special programs in the Chaffey district.

The Chaffey High School graduate said "mainstream" school programs must be given top priority in budget cuts and said he is a "strong" supporter of the use of binding arbitration.

Maxine M. Curtis, a former professional soloist and current PTA member at Upland High School, said she could not support unification without proof that it could lead to better educational opportunities. She said the public should not be allowed to vote on the issue if the majority of local school boards felt unification was unwise.

She said she supported the idea of binding arbitration to settle bargaining disputes and was satisfied with existing graduation requirements and curriculum.

Jack C. Vermillion, manager of the Upland branch of Directors Mortgage Loan Corp. and board member of the Baldy View chapter of the Building Industry Assn., said he was a former athletic director at Upland High School and a long time resident within the Chaffey district. He said overcrowding at Alta Loma High School should be a prime concern, but he offered no suggestions on how to end the crunch. He said binding arbitration was probably inevitable and the * district should be prepared for its emergence.

Vermillion said he was against budget cuts in extracurricular activities or special programs wuch as work experience. He said he could not comment on cuts the board has already made without having the same information that wa available to them.

Jean Vieau, manager and loan officer for the electrical workers local credit union, said she agrees with the concept of a ninth grade school made of relocatable classrooms to end overcrowding in Alta Loma. She said a good board member should work well with students, teachers and school district administrators.

She said she has attended many board meetings because of her interest in education and has tried to learn how the annual budget is created. She said unification of the local schools "is not a workable plan at this time

Renee Lovato, a parent and area coordinator of the county Office on Aging, said she has children currently enrolled in the Chaffey district and will have more coming into the district's schools.

Mrs. Lovato said she supported the budget cuts made recently that limited travel expenses and would like to see the district use old products longer to save money. She said she was not certain if she would agree to administrative personnel cuts during future budget sessions.

Lilas E. McPherson, a registered nurse from Ontario and parent, said 'the most urgent" district need is to end the over population at Alta Loma High School, though she had no specific ideas on the proper method to use. She said she was against cuts that affect the classroom and indicated she agreed with the recent busing cutbacks. She said she'd rather see a ninth grade school in Alta Loma than realignment of regular attendance Harold Katzman, former Chaffey

High School student and current student body president at California Polytechnic University, Pomona, said he is not afraid to go out into the community to learn people's opinions on important issues. He said he would look "closely" at possibly cutting out some assistants to district administrators during future budget cuts.

Making the report at the weekly breakfast meeting at the West End YMCA was Chuck Hardy of GEASO, who reported this figure to be a 9 percent increase over last year's pledges.

Since this report topped the others at the breakfast, Hardy was named "Wrangler of the Week" and will wear the white cowboy hat for a week. The hat is given to the individual making the week's best report of fund - raising:

Don Crawford, campaign chairman, introduced Chuck Buquet of Southern California Edison who will be the only loaned executive for the drive. He will work with executive director Ralph Stillings and campaign associate Kathy Roche in presenting the United Way's story and commitment to support the 35 member agencies of the West End United Way's program.

Crawford announced that $225,832 or 29 percent of the goal has been attained. "We are confident this campaign will be a total success. Doctors oppose government control over costs

Staff Writer

Leaders of county and state physicians' associations have a simple message about controlling the high costs of medical care: Let doctors and hospitals do the job themselves without government intervention.

'There exists a feeling that somehow if we regulate the hospitals better, we can save a lot more money," Dr. Nicholas P. Krikes, this year's president of the California Medical Association,

"Actually, the hospitals are probably the most heavily regulated industry in the whole wide world. There isn't a week that goes by that a hospital isn't being inspected by somebody.

'The answer is not more regulation, I think it's less regulation.'

Krikes and Dr. Fred Gattas, president of the San Bernardino County Medical Society, appeared at a news conference last week at the society's offices in Colton. They were there to explain organized medicine's stands on a variety of health care issues.

Krikes is a family practice physician in San Bernardo. Gattas is a specialist in internal medicine in Upland and is affiliated with San Antonio Community Hospital.

Krikes acknowledged the seriousness of rising costs of medical care in the United States from $26 billion in 1960 to $69 billion in 1970, $160 billion in 1977 and an estimated $200 billion or more by

He attributed those increases partly to general inflation and sophisticated but expensive medical

Voluntary cost-containment efforts by the American Medical Association, the California Medical Association, individual doctors and hospitals should be given a chance to work first, Krikes said.

The doctors don't want government intervention in the form of President Carter's proposed cost ceiling for hospitals, Krikes said.

Congress didn't pass the legislation, which in its original form would have set a ceiling of about 9 percent on increases in hospital rates. But Carter is expected to push for the legislation next year.

Krikes said government regulations already add billions dollars to the cost of medical care costs that doctors and hospitals must pass on to the public through higher prices.

As part of the California Medical Association's efforts to contain costs, Krikes said it is attempting to educate the public to visit doctors and hospitals only when appropriate.

Krikes said the public should practice preventive medicine and be aware of how daily habits and lifestyles affect health.

Krikes also criticized government's intervention in health care in other respects.

Among them was the Kennedy-Corman bill for a comprehensive system of national health insurance. which Krikes said represents "a total lack of comprehension of what government programs do to costs.'

The proposal is sponsored by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., and Rep. James Corman, D-Calif

Krikes said its price tag is too high, the public doesn't want it anyway, it would create a new bureaucracy to administer it, and 90 percent of all Americans already have some form of health insurance.

"There is no statistical proof that this type of monolithic government program will increase health in this country," Krikes added.

Krikes said a visit to Great Britain didn't convince him that a national health insurance system would eliminate the faults of medical care in the United States. Although the American Medical Association opposes the Kennedy-

Corman proposal, it recognizes the need for broadened insurance coverage for catastrophic illnesses and injuries, Krikes said. Krikes also blamed government red tape for most of the problems in

Medi-Cal, the state program which was started in 1966 to pay for medical services to the poor. "Almost since its onset, this program has been a source of continuous problems," Krikes said.

Nurses to test OMSD students' hearing, vision beginning Nov. 1

Students in the Ontario-Montclair School District will have their vision and hearing tested by four retired OMSD nurses beginning Nov.1, the district board of trustees decided during their recent monthly meet-

The four retired nurses, of Vision and Hearing Associates of Ontario. can't complete an accompanying health assessment of students, however, because of a change in the California Education and Health and Safety Code that prohibits a district contracting with a private company to perform such assessments, according to Robert Vislay, district director of student services.

In past years, Vislay explained, a private company could be contracted to conduct not only the statemandated vision and hearing tests for district kindergarteners, second-, fifth- and eighth-graders, but could also conduct a health assessment of these students.

The district county legal counsel has interpreted the code changes to mean that a private company may be contracted to perform the testing but not the assessment and proposed treatment of children, Vislay indicated, so district staff members will conduct the assessments.

This health assessment, as Vislay described in a memo to district officials, includes muscle balance, teeth, mouth, tonsils and posture inspection, and observation of nutritional status.

"In recent years it has been district practice for the regular school nurses to perform these tests, but this usually took several months, and most of the work day for these nurses was devoted to this task, Vislay said.

Total cost of the program, to be completed by March 16, 1979, was estimated at about $20,000, Vislay

New law extends terms of school, city officials

By DON GREEN Staff Writer

A recently signed state law revising election dates will add an extra month to the terms of current local city council members and eight additional months for school board members.

AB 2224 signed Sept. 30 by Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. goes into effect Jan. 1, 1979. A major provision pushes elections for general law cities, which include all local municipalities, back to the second Tuesday of April in evennumbered years.

The law also consolidates school board elections with balloting for the governing boards of special districts on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November of odd-numbered years.

Bill Clinton, registrar of voters for San Bernardino County, said the consolidation was aimed at reducing costs and encouraging voter turnout, which is generally low for school board and special district elections.

Upland City Clerk Dee Carpenter said city clerks in the state supported the April date for elections to prevent candidate filing from covering two years and frequently two sets of laws.

"It really messed everything up," she commented.

Now the filing period will begin in January and one set of laws will apply, Mrs. Carpenter added.

Montclair City Clerk Trudy Hill called the change a "lot nicer for us," explaining that candidates would no longer be filing papers during the Christmas holiday period.

She noted that the deadline fell on Christmas Eve in 1974.

City elections were last held in April in 1972.

Neither Mrs. Carpenter nor Mrs. Hill said she believed voter turnout would be affected by the change in election dates.

Local school officials were not optimistic consolidation of their elections with those for special districts would increase voter

Jack Jones, superintendent of the Ontario-Montclair School District, said school districts still face "basically the same problem:" balloting in off years from state and national elections.

Neither he nor Russell Dickinson — assistant superintendent for business in the Chaffey Joint Union High School District — said he was aware of any school district backing of AB 2224.

School district elections were previously held the first Tuesday after the first Monday of March in odd-numbered years.

Special district elections will continue to be held the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November. However, Clinton noted the elections for directors of the Chino Basin Municipal Water District fall under a different law.

Balloting for directors will continue to be held in June and November of even-numbered years, coinciding with statewide elections, he said.

Clinton noted the county administers elections for school districts and special districts, which in turn reimburse the county for costs.

He said he expects some limited savings from the consolidation of these elections, although adding that an expanded number of ballot types to cover more voting will cut into savings somewhat.

elections for the cities will have some drawbacks for his office. Voting on the second Tuesday of April crowds the municipal elections closer to the June primary.

April crowds the municipal elections closer to the June primary elections, Clinton said. He noted the county would probably be able to offer less help by loan of equipment and other aid than in the past.

"By April, we're already in high gear for the June election," he said.

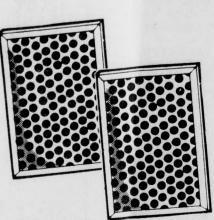

Mrs. Hill of Montclair noted another change in the law allows voters to request absentee ballots without stating reasons for their need.

Reorganization has few district fans

A county proposal to reorganize West End schools into three unified districts has so far gained the approval of only two of the school districts involved.

In recent weeks, the plan has been criticized by trustees of the Chaffey Joint Union High School District and the Mt. Baldy, Alta Loma, Mountain View and Etiwanda elementary school districts.

In Upland, a split vote by trustees resulted in no stand on the matter and Cucamonga trustees have yet to vote and will not do so until Oct. 24.

The lone districts expressing approval for the plan have been the Central School District and the Ontario-Montelair School District.

In the Ontario-Montelair district endorsement for the reorganzation came on a 3-2 vote at a meeting last week.

District officials will submit their vote on the plan this week to the San Bernardino County Committee on

School District Organization so that it can be considered at the organization's meeting Oct. 25.

The plan was devised by the county, committee and has been making the rounds of school districts for their reactions. The committee is the rounds of school districts for their reactions. The committee is currently studying financial data on the proposed plan.

The plan would reorganize Alta Loma, Central, Cucamonga and Etiwanda school districts into District A; Ontario-Montelair and Mountain Michael School districts into District A; Ontario-Montelair and Mountain

The plan would reorganize Alta Loma, Central, Cucamonga and Etiwanda school districts into District A: Ontario-Montclair and Mountain View school districts into District B; and Upland and Mt. Baldy school districts into District C. Chaffey Joint Union High School District campuses would be divided among the three new districts to create a unified grouping for grades kindergarten through high school.

In a position paper presented to the OMSD board members at last week's regular meeting, Dr. Jack Jones, OMSD superintendent, noted, "there appears to be no financial advantage or disadvantage to unification."

In the past, Jones explained, the

In the past, Jones explained, the concept of unification has not been supported by either OMSD officials or citizens because of the possibility that the tax rate would have to be increased to pay extra costs of implementation.

"Because of the passage of Propo-

"Because of the passage of Proposition 13 there would be no tax rate increase resulting from unification," Jones said. The tax rate would remain at the constant level established by the Jarvis-Gann initiative.

"It would appear that in the foreseeable future there would be ample facilities to serve the children of an Ontario-Montclair Unified School District at both the elementary and secondary levels," Jones further noted."

Even though the Mountain View School District is experiencing significant continued growth, OMSD closed two schools this year because of declining enrollment, so a redistribution of children would enable both districts to handle current enrollment, in addition to expected growth Jones' report noted.

The unification of both Mountain View and Ontario-Montclair school districts "could provide the opportunity to eliminate duplication in administration and should eventually reduce administrative costs," Jones said.

He also noted that the 12 major

He also noted that the 12 major findings of OMSD's own unification study indicated "the unified district is the best organizational structure for providing the public educational program to a community's youth."

In summary, Jones said, "The unified school district removes existing administrative duplication and better reflects community identity and local control than existing school district organizations. There is substantial support for the premise that a unified district can provide an improved educational program."

Ontario-Montclair Trustee Kathy Brugger, who along with Trustee Sam DiGiovanni voted against the plan, noted that the possibility of saving money through unification "is a matter of pure speculation."

"How long would it take before we really did save money?" she questioned.

Mrs Brugger contended that if the unification plan were to be implemented, "we could find Alta Loma High School on quadruple sessions" since it would be the only high school in a district experiencing unprecedented growth.

She added that the wording in Proposition 13 specifically prohibits the use of a bond to gather funds for the building of schools, in which case the proposed unified school district in Rancho Cucamonga would be seriously affected.

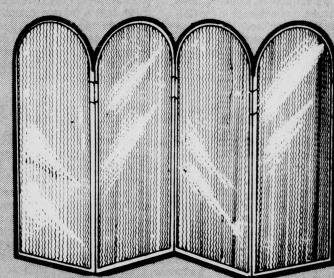

DiGiovanni noted that the district has researched the idea of unification in the past and and in each instance the cost to the taxpayers was found to increase.

The phone was ringing, customers were waiting and beaded doorways jiggled as customers and employees hurried in and out of rooms.

Not the usual image of a photography studio, but then, Ron-L Photography Studio in Claremont has other unusual attributes.

It is owned and managed by a woman and staffed by five other women.

Traditionally and for unknown reasons, according to Lee Walker, owner of the studio, such businesses have always been run by men. And she knows of only two others in Southern California owned and operated by women—one in the San Fernando Valley and another in San Pedro

"It's simply been considered a man's profession," Walker said. Walker, 46, married and the Walker, 46, married and the mother of four children, has no "bone of contention" with her male counterparts.

"I'm highly qualified and never had any with discrimination," the self-avowed non-women's libber said.

"Oh on occasion when I've gone

"Oh, on occasion when I've gone out to shoot something like a wedding someone might say, 'Oh, a woman?' but then nothing else is ever said."

Walker has been in the photography business for 30 years, beginning as a student in high school, but she had always worked for someone else until little over a year ago when she had the opportunity of buying the studio.

we can bring special qualities to the profession," she said.

She said a "feminine touch" is great for dealing with teen-agers, especially girls, who sometimes have trouble with male photographers.

Walker laughed as a girl, scantilyclad on top with a white fur piece darted into one of the portrait rooms for a sitting. "Sometimes male photographers make a girl nervous," she said.

"Sometimes children are more responsive to a woman photographer too," Walker said.
"They are more used to being around a woman."

But it takes a lot of initiative for a woman to make it in photography, according to Walker, who, even when pregnant at 18 years old, went out on call with the Fresno Sheriff's Department to take pictures of accidents before the bodies were hauled off.

Walker wasn't college-trained for her role, but says she picked it up by "osmosis" and hard work.

"It's an ego trip," she said, but one she would readily give up if her husband was transferred to a different area

"His work comes before mine," she said, adding that his profession makes different demands and "with mine, I can find work anywhere."

But as to the question of her having an all-female staff at her studio, Walker said, "I don't really know why. I just woke up one morning and realized I had an all-female staff.

"I guess I'm being a female chauvinist."

Proposal to curb pollutants shelved

By PETER WONG Staff Writer

WEST COVINA — A proposed curb on certain pollutants at Kaiser Steel's plant in Fontana was shelved Friday by the South Coast Air Quality Management District board.

The board agreed with a staff recommendation that Kaiser Steel should be given a chance to operate pollution controls the company has been planning.

The proposed rule was part of the district's strategy to achieve state and federal standards for sulfur dioxide by 1985 and the state sulfate standard 95 percent of the time.

Kaiser Steel's plant in Fontana has been among the leading industrial sources of sulfur oxides in the four Southern California counties in the district.

But the company hopes to reduce those pollutants by two-thirds sometime next year.

Of the 22 tons of sulfur dioxide released daily in iron ore sintering operations and related processes, Kaiser Steel expects to eliminate all but one ton through improved controls

"We think we're doing the job right now," Ray Robinson, Kaiser's director of public affairs, said after the board's action.

The district's proposed rule would have required Kaiser Steel to reduce sulfur dioxide emissions from iron ore sintering operations by 70 percent. Annual costs were estimated at $1.2 million.

However, Sanford Weiss, director of the district's air programs division, recommended that the proposed rule be shelved until the district staff can review control measures Kaiser Steel is planning.

Among those measures are:

— Installation of equipment for the removal of sulfur from coke oven gases. The equipment will start operating by the end of next year.

Operation of the new basic oxygen shop facility, which will replace the present open-hearth furnaces at the Fontana plant.

Sulfur oxides are released into the atmosphere when coal is burned and coke is manufactured for steel. They are discharged in the form of sulfur dioxide, a gas.

Once in the atmosphere, sulfur dioxide combines with oxygen to form sulfates. Both pollutants tend to aggravate respiratory illnesses even more than the photochemical smog common in Southern California.

Weiss called Kaiser Steel's impact on the problem of sulfates "minimal."

The board shelved the proposed rule over the objections of Gladys Meade, the board's public member.

"We should try by every means possible to reduce sulfur dioxide at the Fontana plant," she said.

Coal is heated before it is placed into ovens and converted to coke. The heating releases sulfur dioxide. The gases from the heating supply the fuel for the coke ovens.

Nurses given funding to administer to aged

County supervisors have approved a contract accepting $60,000 in state money to continue public health nursing consultation to the aged.

The project was developed by the county public health department in 1975 to provide scheduled visits by public health nurses to senior citizen housing, recreation and nutrition centers.

The $60,000 in state money is matched by an equal amount of local services. County citizens 60 and older receive blood pressure tests, vision and hearing counseling, and referral.

During the first year about 11,000 clinic visits were made by public health nurses. This year 18,000 clinic visits are projected and 4,500 new patients are expected to participate.

Pomona Valley chapter of American Civil Liberties Union will hold a fundraising wine and cheese party 4-6 p.m. Saturday at unit. the home of Dr. Andria Fletcher, 4064 Olive Knoll, Padua Hills, Claremont.

Guest speaker will be Peter Judge, president of the Gay Rights Chapter of ACLU.

Funding

Angeles County unit of vices. American Society has announced ACS will pay for all state "no smoking" signs if Proposition 5 passes.

The Los Angeles County group said ACS will spend

A spokesperson said the tobacco companies' claim that Proposition 5 would cost taxpayers $20 million.

Coordinators

Alice Ogle, Richard E. Gulbranson, and Rosemary Ferraro have been named Los Angeles County coordinators for the Younger-Curb Committee.

Four local groups have announced opposition to Proposition 6.

Los Angeles County groups against the Briggs initiative include Los Angeles County COPE and Los Angeles County Young Republicans.

Other groups against the measure are Presbyterian Synod of Southern California and Southern California Conference of United Church of Christ.

Endorsed

Sandy Baldonado, Democratic candidate for the 62nd Assembly District, has been endorsed for election by the National Association of Social Workers, PACE Committee, Pomona-West End

The group's endorsement came after Mrs. Baldonado participated in an panel discussion on "violence in the family.

Support

Proposition A - which would allow Los Angeles County to contract services from private firms - has won the endorsement of the Los Angeles County Chapter of the National Electrical Contractors Association.

NECA chapter President Harold T. Duffy said support was based on the belief that competitive bidding would reduce the cost of county government and provide jobs in the private sector.

Ratings

Assemblymen Bill Lancaster and Dave Stirling have received particularly high marks from California Women for Agriculture.

Both received 100 percent ratings for voting "proagriculture" on four key Assembly bills. Stirling also received praise for his votes in the Assembly Labor, Employment, and Consumer Affairs Committee State Senator H.L.

Richardson also received a high rating of 90 percent with three pro-agriculture votes and one instance when he did not vote.

Hobgoblins for holiday suppers

So, if you're planning a finely diced get - together this 2 cup fine Halloween, or a festive family supper, serve a Halloween Hobgoblin.

Hidden inside the Hobgoblin is a hot dog meatloaf made like a traditional meatloaf, but chopped up frankfurters instead of ground beef.

A fluffy potato coating, easily stirred together with mashed potatoes, is sprinkled with pumpkin colored cheese, then decorated with green pepper.

Spicy Tomato Grog is an ideal beverage for a cool October night.

To make it, just season hot tomato juice with Worcestershire sauce and a sprinkling of brown sugar.

Round out your festive meal with buttered green beans, hot rolls, and apple dumplings.

Then, for the final treat, bring on a large pumpkin filled with gaily wrapped miniature presents for an at-home Halloween party the entire family will enjoy. Halloween Hobgoblin

Voter registration in county establishes record

By PETER WONG Staff Writer

After thousands of names were removed from voter registration lists in San Bernardino County and thousands of others were added, the final total for the Nov. 7 general election sets a record.

As of the Oct. 9 deadline, 309,119 persons were registered to vote in the general election, up 9.4 percent from the 282,626 registered for the 1976 presidential election.

However, the total for this year's general election is only a net increase of 50 over the 309,069 registered for the June 6 primary. Registrar of Voters Bill Clinton said his office had purged 26,869 names from the voter registration rolls. But registration efforts accounted for the slight increase.

The latest figures show that registration in both major political parties continues to drop percentagewise from 1976. On the other hand, the share of voters who declined to state a political affiliation continues to increase slightly.

The latest figures:

Democratic Party: 167,421 currently registered, or 54.16 percent, compared with 156,702 in the 1976 general election, or 55.45 percent. The total for the primary was 168,085, or 54.38 percent.

Republican Party: 115,060 currently registered, or 37.22 percent, compared with 108,365 in the 1976 general election, or 38.34 percent. The total for the primary was 115,926, or 37.51 percent.

Those declining to state a party affiliation: 21,932 currently registered, or 7.1 percent, compared with 16,009 in the 1976 general election, or 5.66 percent. The total for the primary was 20,561, or 6.63 percent.

Other parties' totals were American Independent Party, 3,748, or 1.21 percent; Peace and Freedom Party, 586, or 0.19 percent, and miscellaneous parties, 372, or 0.12 percent.

Registration figures for West End cities are as follows:

- Ontario: Democrats, 15,009, or 57.9 percent; Republicans, 9,109, or 35.1 percent; no affiliation, 1,458, or 5.6 percent. (The rest are split among the three other categories.) Total registered, 25,937.

- Upland: Republicans, 9,385, or 48.7 percent; Democrats, 8,589, or 44.6 percent; no affiliation, 1,128, or 5.8 percent. Total registered, 19,280. Rancho Cucamonga: Democrats, 8,505, or 49.96 percent;

Republicans, 6,848, or 40.2 percent; no affiliation, 1,372, or 8.1 percent. Total registered, 17,023. - Chino: Democrats, 5.90v. or 53.8 percent; Republicans, 4,168, or

37.7 percent; no affiliation, 788, or

7.1 percent. Total registered, 11,049. Montclair: Democrats, 4,141, or 58.8 percent; Republicans, 2,383, or 33.8 percent; no affiliation, 440, or 6.2 percent. Total registered, Fontana: Democrats, 6,341, or 66.3 percent; Republicans, 2,367, or 24.7 percent; no affiliation, 689, or 7.2 percent. Total registered, 9,566.

ment Centers, which has been located at 229 N. Laurel Ave., Ontario, moved recently to new quarters at 118 W. Granada Court, Ontario.

Eldon Richey, licensed marriage, family, and child counselor, has been appointed to direct the activities of the center.

The Development Centers came into being through the efforts of Sarah Keeney, former kindergarten teacher at El Camino School, Ontario-Montclair, who served as director of the center until early 1978 when she affiliated with Covina Counseling Center. During the interim, Elinor Stallard and Melvin H. Bowers have served as codirectors.

At the new site, expansion of services will be offered. with additional counseling rooms, medical examing room, play therapy room, waiting room, and office space. Services will not be interrupted while remodeling of the new facility is in progress.

West End Child Development Centers, a non-profit agency supported by West End United Way and by private donations, first opened in October, 1970, at the County Medical Facility in Ontario, and since April, 1975, has been housed in the medical building at North Laurel Avenue.

West End Child Development Centers gears its services solely to children ages 3 through 14. But where the children's problems involve their parents, parent counseling and/or family therapy is made available. Services, donated by professionals and counselor interns, include individual, group, and family counseling, play therapy, medical diagnosis

Reunion

Chaffey graduates sing 'Orange and Black'

By MARGE GROSS

The voices of over 300 men and women were raised in

'To Chaffey's glowing colors We owe allegiance true,

And forever we will cherish

Our banner's glorious hue;

So we'll hail our radiant colors, Nor honor shall they lack

While Chaffey stands defender

Of the Orange and Black.' The singers were members of Chaffey High School classes 1927, 1928 and 1929. They met for a glorious joint reunion last Saturday at the Elks Lodge in Ontario. Harold "Tony" Zenz, class of '28, said it was a highly successful event with reservations made for 103 from the class of '27, 102 from the class of '28 and 113 from the None of the high school loyalty had dimmed over the

49, 50 and 51 years which have passed since each proudly accepted a diploma

Even members of the administration and faculty of the Ontario school during those years of the Roaring '20s

They included: Ernest Fischer of Claremont, who was vice principal; Mr. and Mrs. Olaf Snyder of Upland, he was a teacher and assistant coach; Mr. and Mrs. W.W. Mather of Upland, he was a teacher; and Harold Wilson of Ontario, also a teacher.

Also attending were: Wilma Lewis Klepper, a teacher and counselor; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Cook, he had been a coach and teacher then was superintendent of schools in Upland; Charles Smith of Ontario, a teacher; Helen Nyberg of Ontario, a teacher; Mr. and Mrs. B. Bergstrom of Claremont, she was Julia Peters Bergstrom and a teacher; Helen Goodrich Mauer of Ontario, a teacher; Karl Kaiser of Ontario, a teacher and coach; and Mr. and Mrs. Burt Heiser of Upland. Heiser, Zenz said, was "in the junior college by then, but he'd always been with us kids."

The program included "Gems of History" or flashbacks to the old high school days presented by Harlan and Ethel Olson Horak.

There were excerpts from old issues of the Chaffey Tatler and the Fasti, the Chaffey High School yearbook. A musical memory program of songs from the 1927-29 years was arranged by Warren "Torchy" Moore with the assistance of Eleanor Corn Wilding.

And for all to take home, a booklet containing the names, addresses and a statement by each graduate telling a bit about his or her life.

Blenda Nelson Ford made the covers and put the books together with the aide of Gladys Gilliland Holmer.
Reunions would not be complete unless prizes were offered for the one who came the greatest distance, had the most grandchildren. This reunion added a couple more - who has lived in the same house for 50, 45 or 40 years? And who has the latest marriage. Walter and Winnie Rosenbrock topped the distance competition having flown in from Paris, France. Two couples, Kenneth and Mildred Decker and George W. and Maysel Schrock Gee flew in from Hawaii. Louise Orr Henderson of Corona was tops in the grandparent race with 15 grandchildren and six greatgrandchildren. Una Oswald Martin of Claremont was recognized since she reported twin great-grandchildren. Mrs. and Mrs. Raymond Goelitze of Ontario have lived in the same house since 1910, Cornelia and Christian Born have lived in the same Upland house since 1913. These were family homes. Barbara and Colburn Payne of Ontario have been residing in the same Upland house

The reunion was a success and the memories will linger on as the school song, "The Orange and the Black" fades with the last lines

"To those happy days at Chaffey Neath the Orange and the Black.

THIS IS YOUR INVITATION TO WORSHIP WITH US

W. HICKS, pastor

The program, presented by the crime prevention unit of the California Department of Justice and sponsored by several San Bernardino county agencies and organizations, emphasized the theme that community involvement is needed to combat the growing crime

'Law enforcement has proved its failure over the past 20 years, and unless we do something with the help of citizens, it's going to get worse," said a San Bernardino County law enforcement official.

'We have to be honest and recognize we (in the criminal justice division) haven't done well," said June Sherwood, director of the attorney general's crime prevention unit.

She noted reaction — instead of preventative concepts of law enforcement - developed along with 'professionalism.

'We want a pro-active, before-the-stance approach to crime," Sherwood said.

The rape prevention session was the most heavily attended workshop of the seven offered at the program which is planned as the first of many statewide.

Shirley Eastman, project director for the Rape Crisis Service in San Bernardino said law enforcement isn't meeting the total needs of the rape victim.

There is a breakdown and people don't stop to talk to the rape victim and explain what is happening," she said. She said a rape victim is traumatized and doesn't understand the depersonalization of the processes she goes through, from police to hospital personnel and Eastman also said, "Women really don't know what rape is.

'It isn't a sex act. It's an act of violence-a sexual 'Prevention is based around values and concepts in our society and these must change," she said. Rusty Gagnon, district administrator of the attorney general's crime prevention unit, told the predominently female audience that she gets almost violently angry when she hears the comment, "well, she (woman victim) asked for it.

'I feel I have the right to go to a dance, bar or church social alone and not be a victim. We don't tell men they can't do that," she said. Other workshops included:

-Child Abuse Prevention, in which Dr. Herbert Giese, a pediatrician at the San Bernardino County Medical Center, described child abuse as a "social disease" and not a "medical" disease.

He said the seven types of child abuse include physical assault, which is the most visible, and corporal punishment, which may or may not be abusive.

Others are emotional assault, which is the least dealt with but is a very serious form of abuse, and emotional deprivation, which may involve a well-fed and clean child, but one who is never picked up and loved. Giese said emotional deprivation can lead to retardation in Physical neglect, inadequate supervision and sexual exploitation are also forms of child abuse, he said.

-Residential Burglary Prevention speakers hit on the theme of how best to protect a house from burglary.

Michael Moore of the Fontana Police Department, said residents should assume responsibility for protecting their homes through good locks and lighting and by not having heavy shrubbery around a home

-Domestic Violence Prevention speakers emphasized that one out of every two families in the United States is touched by domestic violence and that the problem is growing.

Donna Waldrop, of the crime prevention unit in San Diego, said the criminal justice system isn't the answer in the long range and that "domestic violence, such as wife abuse, covers all socio-economic groups, but is usually spotted in lower income groups because it is more readily visible.

Other workshops included Recidivism Prevention and Rehabilitation, Street Crime Prevention, and Consumer Fraud Prevention.

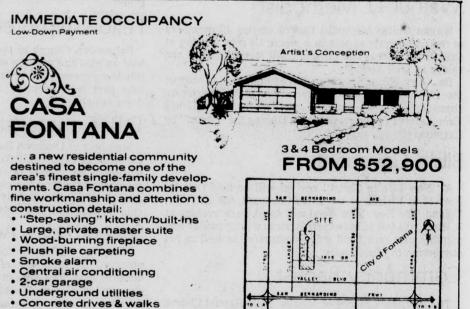

Local sponsors of the seminar were: American Association of University Woman, Church Women United Federated Women's Club, Upland Business and Professional Women's Club and the Urban League.

Library plans party, activities for Halloween

A Halloween party for children will top off the events scheduled in the children's department of the Ontario City Library.

Instruction in pumpkin carving will be given Monday, Oct. 30. All children are asked to bring their own knives and pumpkins. Children attending the Halloween party on Tuesday, Oct. 31 are asked to come in costume. A prize will be awarded for the best costume. Games will be played and refreshments will be served.

All events will be held at 3:30 p.m., and are free and open to all children in-

ORDINANCE NO. 1182

AN ORDINANCE IMPOSING AN INTERIM MORATORIUM ON THE FILING OF APPLICATIONS FOR PARCELING OF LAND, REZONING CONVERSION OF RESIDENTIAL STRUCTURES TO COMMERCIAL STRUCTURES AND/OR OTHER CHANGE OF USES IN AN AREA CONSISTING OF 400 FEET ON EACH SIDE OF THE CENTERLINE OF EUCLID AVENUE EXTENDING FROM THE CITY'S SOUTH CITY LIMITS TO THE SOUTH SIDE OF EUGENE COURT

The City Council of the City of Upland does ordain as follows SECTION 1. FINDINGS AND DECLARATION OF INTENT. Euclid Avenue has been designated as a national historic highway and is an area which comprises a focal point of entry into the City. The frontage curring on the Avenue which brings into question the desirability of allow-ing commercial development on Euclid Avenue with a 50 foot or less from tage. The Council also recognizes the difficulty of arranging for parking nd access on the normal 50 x 150 foot lot fronting upon Euclid Avenue in sofar as commercial and/or professional development is concerned. The Council is concurrently, with the enactment of this Ordinance, directing that the Planning Commission initiate hearings to determine and explore in depth the general plan and zoning which would accommodate substantial development on Euclid Avenue which would be in keeping with its aesthetic ualities, its existing neighborhood, its designation as a national historic ighway and as an entry to the City of Upland. The area determined to be affected by these findings consists of an area extending side of Euclid Avenue from the south City limits to the south line of Eugene

Court, and it is this area to which this interim ordinance shall apply. Rezoning of the land described herein and uses of said land may occur between now and a date when a comprehensive plan for the area and land ise regulations are adopted which may be in conflict with those proposed. In order to avoid the frustrations of any comprehensive zoning and land use regulations which may be adopted in the near future, and for the purpose of protecting the public safety, health and welfare, the City Council finds that t is necessary to adopt regulations set forth in this Ordinance on a tem-

The purpose of this Ordinance is to require that every use proposed of the area described herein, whether or not the use is permissible under existing zoning regulations, and including the conversion of any residential structures to commercial structures, may not be undertaken until a land use permit is first obtained from the City in accordance with the land use permit procedures set forth in this Ordinance.

SECTION 3. NO LAND USE PERMIT TO BE ISSUED OR REZONING

For the period of ninety (90) days from the adoption of this Ordinance, no land use permits, including building permits and conversions of residential to commercial use, shall be issued by the City nor shall any zoning, rezoning or parcel maps be approved by the City in any property in an area ex-tending 400 feet from each side of the centerline of Euclid Avenue from the City's south City limits to the south side of Eugene Court.

SECTION 4. EXEMPTIONS.

Notwithstanding any other ordinance regulating the issuance of land use permits, including this ordinance and including those applicable to rezoning, subdivision of land and building, the City Council may allow the issuance of said permits, parcel maps, rezoning, and other uses for which application is made in its discretion, providing it find that the following 1. The establishment and maintenance of the use applied for conform with the comprehensive planning and land use regulations being studied, or will not conflict with those regulations;

2. The proposed use will not be detrimental to the standards of traffic circulation, land use intensity, and distribution which the Planning Commission has under study or intends to study within a reasonable time; 3. Adequate utilities, access roads, drainage and other necessary facilities have been or will be provided;

4. The proposed use will not under the circumstances of the particular case be a nuisance or be detrimental to the health, safety, peace, morals, comfort and general welfare of the persons residing in the neighborhood 5. The proposed permit or use is not detrimental or injurious to property or improvements in the neighborhood and is appropriate to the locat lot and the neighborhood. The Council may impose any conditions to the granting of said permits or use which it considers necessary to avoid conflict with the proposed comprehensive planning and land use regulations under study. SECTION 5. URGENCY AND TAKING EFFECT.

This Ordinance is an urgency ordinance and is for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and welfare. The facts constituting the urgency are those set forth in the findings above-mentioned. The City recognizes that it will take substantial time for the Planning Commission and the City Council to study and consider all of the facets required to be studied to make a plan for the area above-mentioned which protects the aesthetic beauty of Euclid Avenue and to provide substantial development which will not be detrimental to the standards of traffic circulation, population density, and which will not be detrimental or injurious to the property and improvements of the neighborhoods now located on Euclid Avenue. The Council finds that it would be destructive to the proposer regulation if during the period that they were being studied subject to public hearing, parties seeking to evade the operation of these regulations in the form that they have been adopted should be permitted to enter into a course of construction which might progress so far as to defeat in whole or in part the ultimate objective of these regulations.

The Mayor shall sign this Ordinance and the City Clerk shall certify to the passage and adoption of this Ordinance, and said Ordinance shall be effective immediately upon its adoption by this Council as an urgency Or-
